LOCAL LUNCHEON.

Currents are now in market. A big consumption of sugar just now. The moonlight is now on the decrease. The straw berry crop is nearly exhausted. Some of our streets are getting dusty again. The bass fishing has not yet reached its best. The Saturday half holiday don't seem to take in town as yet. New buildings continue to go up in every section of the town. It is a significant fact that of all the politicians Republicans are most cheerful. Would you say your friend had given you a "cold shake" if he treated you to a milk shake? Silver ten cent pieces never were so scarce as they are at the present time, and the tube savings bank is the real cause of this scarcity.

Its Excellent Qualities

Ashland Wants a Crusher.

Every year the Ashland Borough Council is compelled to wrestle with the vexed question of cracked stone for street making purposes. This year a set price per ton was made to be paid for broken stone, and the Street Committee instructed to go ahead and procure the necessary supply, and this was supposed to have settled the matter, and so it did until the committee found that the price set was so low that the men employed at the work could not make living wages, and then the committee were compelled to come before Council and fight the battle all over again, with the result that it was taken out of their hands and given out by contract. Here we are now nearly out of the month of June and comparatively nothing has been done in the matter of street repairs, all because of the difficulty about broken stone. Shenandoah has settled the question by purchasing a stone crusher. Couldn't Ashland do the same by making a similar move?—Ashland Telegram
